Welcome to our July's edition of Brigade News.

This month we have been playing table tennis, another Podcast has gone out to the world, and also the children make beads and we attend Locke Park Open Day.

Firstly the Brigade have been working tremendously hard every weekend to complete the Hall Project. Since this started in February 2009 we have seen the yard cleared and tidied up, a wall built and working on making the Hall reusable for the Parish. Along the way the senior boys have been learning life skills from wood work, wallpapering, painting and decorating, to basic plumbing

For the few occasions where it hasn't rained on a Brigade night we were able to sit and play in the enclosed space behind the Church. We have enjoyed a couple of games of Kwik cricket, but some of us were getting a little carried away and hitting the balls into the vicarage garden (sorry Sister Anita). We have also wheeled outside for the first time the table tennis table down our disabled access ramp which was good to see our ramp at last been used.

The children enjoyed the table tennis as for some it was the first time of playing this amazing sport.

While the kids were making a noise with Big G the Podcast was recorded in the studio with DJ's J and C. Although it is a tightly run budget actually zero we manage to put together yet another world famous Podcast, of which the children joined us in the studio playing the 1 word tango, which is a game that Dic and Dom used to play from Dic and Dom in da Bungalow.

Although we are now taking a break for the summer holidays we are still online at www.clcgbdormanstown.co.uk and in the magazine, and working overtime in the Church Hall for Brigade moving back in for September.

Some of the senior boys were treated to tea and biscuits with sisters Pam and Patricia where we had a nice chat about things in the parish and the Brigade and how we were lacking in numbers in Brigade which they are keen to try and encourage more youth into the church which was good news to us.

Brigade is back on September 8th. From all the leaders and members we hope you have a good summer break in whatever you may or may not be doing.

And we look forward to welcoming Alison in September too.

God Bless you all.
